

THE PATTERSON BANKS ASSESSED TOO HIGH.

PATTERSON INSTITUTIONS PROTEST THAT THEY SHOULD NOT HAVE TO PAY TAXES ON THEIR REAL ESTATE AND STOCK TOO.

Patterson, Aug. 24 (Special).—The Commissioners of Appeal and Revision of Taxes agreed today upon the basis of the assessment of the banks of this city for the year 1896. The banks have been assessed on their real estate and stock at a rate of 100 per cent. The banks have protested against this assessment, claiming that they should be assessed on the same basis as other corporations. The banks have also protested against the assessment of their real estate and stock at a rate of 100 per cent. The banks have also protested against the assessment of their real estate and stock at a rate of 100 per cent. The banks have also protested against the assessment of their real estate and stock at a rate of 100 per cent.

INSANE MEN IN JAIL.

THE STRANGE MANIA THAT AFFLICTS THOMAS WILSON—HE WILL EAT NOTHING, AND IS SLOWLY STARVING.

New-Brunswick, Aug. 24 (Special).—Thomas Wilson, a prisoner in the Middlesex County Jail, has been dangerously insane. Wilson is at least fifty years old. He was lodged in jail on August 8, on a charge of abducting Jennie Demorest, a fourteen-year-old girl, and taking her with him to Pennsylvania, Virginia and other States against his will. Since his incarceration Wilson has been in a state of mental derangement. He has refused to eat anything, and is slowly starving.

For the last week Wilson has been acting queerly in jail. He talked incoherently to himself, and at times to the warden. He refused to eat anything, and is slowly starving. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail.

The cells of the jail have two iron doors, one at the top and one at the bottom. The latter, which is the door of light, has been kept shut, and not a ray of light has penetrated the cell. Wilson has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail.

The jail in this city holds about a hundred prisoners. It is a small building, and the prisoners are crowded together. The prisoners are in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail.

HIS LAST CENT GONE.

THE SUICIDE OF A SILK WEAVER WITH EIGHT CHILDREN AND OUT OF WORK.

Patterson, Aug. 24 (Special).—John Reumster, forty years old, a silk weaver, living at No. 26 Market-st., committed suicide this morning, leaving eight children fatherless. Reumster had found it impossible to obtain work. He had searched for three months, but "no weaver wanted" was the answer. He had been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail.

Reumster had received $20 from an outside firm to pay his wife to Massachusetts. The money was to be paid to him in installments. He had been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail.

SAVED BY A WOMAN.

A DRUNKEN MAN DISMAYED JUST AS HE IS ABOUT TO COMMIT A MURDER.

Mrs. Minnie Giesler, of No. 318 Clinton-st., Hoboken, was called as a heroine among her neighbors yesterday for saving the life of a man who was about to be murdered by a woman. The man was a drunkard, and the woman was a prostitute. The man was in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail.

Charged with contempt of court. Patterson, Aug. 24 (Special).—Andrew Row, formerly a grocer at North Main and Temple sts., has been ordered to appear before Judge Dixon at Bayhead tomorrow and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court. When Row was in the grocery business Ackerman & Van Orsdel secured a judgment against him for $100. The execution was returned unsatisfied. The firm obtained an order of discovery, and Row was ordered to appear before Supreme Court Commissioner R. T. Fines today. The officers were called to the rescue, and Row was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail.

BICYCLISTS FINED.

Three bicyclists were riding tonight on the Hudson Boulevard Sunday night without lights on their wheels and were arrested. They left their wheels as security for their appearance in the Police Court in Jersey City yesterday. They appeared, except one, who was said to be ill. They were each fined $5. The fines were paid. The officers were called to the rescue, and Row was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail.

THE JUSTICE KNEW BETTER.

James Dunker, a butcher, living in New-York, was arrested by Police Justice Potts in Jersey City yesterday for disorderly conduct. Potts claimed that the officer was under the influence of "strong drink." This Dunker disputed, saying, "Your Honor, I was not drunk. I could not get drunk for all the saloons were closed." What exclamation the incredulous Justice, "No, no, no!" Perhaps in New-York, but not in Jersey City. Two dollars fine.

BUSINESS MEN TO MEET.

THEY ARE TO AID THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE.

PLAN TO ESTABLISH BRANCHES IN NEW-JERSEY OF THE MCKINLEY AND HOBART BUSINESS MEN'S NATIONAL COMMITTEE.

A meeting of business men of Newark will be held at the headquarters of the Republican State Committee in Newark at noon to-day to arrange for the establishment of branches of the McKinley and Hobart Business Men's National Campaign Committee, which has its headquarters in Philadelphia, with John W. Amaker as chairman.

About thirty of the leading business men of Newark have promised to attend the meeting, among them several Democrats, and take part in the work. The State Committee has sent out the following circular to business men in the State:

Dear Sir: Your name, among others, has been suggested to us by the Republican chairman as a public-spirited citizen willing to aid in forming a business men's committee for your city and neighborhood, to act in harmony with similar organizations all over the State.

From the enclosed you will learn the objects and principles of our committee, and if you agree, kindly call a preliminary meeting of eight or ten citizens, who will meet at your place, on the platform, etc. If you will then call on your citizens, irrespective of party, you will no doubt be able to form a strong organization.

Should our declaration of principles meet your approval, it would give us pleasure to have you and your committee, as well as your citizens, to be desired. The details of your organization, committee, etc., would, of course, have to be perfected by you.

We have adopted a handsome campaign button. It seems desirable that every member should wear it. The Business Men's Campaign Committee will furnish literature and provide speakers in its own way, apart from the work of the National Republican Committee and the sound-money Democrats.

A POPOCART FOR REVENUE.

FREDERICK C. MARSH, OF ELIZABETH, READY TO EMBRACE THE SILVER DOCTRINE FOR A PARTY REWARD.

Elizabeth, Aug. 24 (Special).—Frederick C. Marsh, who has been on our news with his party since the Chicago Convention, is being coaxed back into line by the promise of a Senatorial or Congress nomination.

Mr. Marsh has been suking in his tent since his return from Chicago, but he has, meanwhile, been keeping a close watch on Senator Hill, and now that Hill is willing to embrace Bryanism, the Union County man is ready to do likewise. Some of the local Popocarts do not look with favor on the return of Marsh to the party, but his early submission to the crack of the party whip.

The merits of this celebrated controversy will be determined on the final hearing of the case, which is now a matter of small consequence to the party. The Marshes, two-thirds of the church, having withdrawn from the Presbyterian judicatory and organized a congregational church, with the Rev. Howard H. Smith as pastor. Dissensions arose in the church about two years ago over the employment of Mr. Wilder as pastor. The Presbytery of Monmouth disapproved of his appointment, and the majority of the congregation refused to acquiesce in this decision, and a bitter struggle ensued, in the course of which a number of members were expelled. The Marshes, two-thirds of the church, having withdrawn from the Presbyterian judicatory and organized a congregational church, with the Rev. Howard H. Smith as pastor. Dissensions arose in the church about two years ago over the employment of Mr. Wilder as pastor. The Presbytery of Monmouth disapproved of his appointment, and the majority of the congregation refused to acquiesce in this decision, and a bitter struggle ensued, in the course of which a number of members were expelled.

A HAVEN OF REFUGE.

THE ESSEX DEMOCRACY OFFERS TO HARBOR ALL MALCONTENTS AND BOLTERS.

A cave of Adulam has been opened for perplexed Democrats in Essex County by the irrepressible Edward W. Whitehead, of Newark, who yesterday promulgated the following notice:

Any Democrat in Essex County who may be in doubt as to just where "he is at" in these trying times, and who may have been expelled from the ranks of his respective organization, can find refuge in the ranks of the Essex Democracy, providing he himself will listen to reason. We have no assessments, no boss rule, and make no promises. The people rule is our motto, and if any one to us is a kind and gentle manner to state it.

THE OUTLOOK CHEERFUL IN JERSEY.

REPORTS RECEIVED AT REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS INDICATE AN OVERWHELMING VICTORY FOR MCKINLEY AND SOUND MONEY.

Franklin Murphy, chairman of the New-Jersey State Republican Committee, yesterday issued a call for the committee to meet in the Trenton House, Tuesday, at 8 o'clock, to discuss the situation in New-Jersey. Murphy said: "There is no doubt that we will carry the State by a much larger majority than Governor Griggs received last year. If the Nation were as safe as New-Jersey the party leaders could well afford to take a rest. There does not seem to be any doubt that the Republican majority in the Legislature will be as large as at the last session, and the present indications point to the return of a solid Republican delegation to the next Congress."

The State Convention, which meets in Taylor's hall, in disjuncted Trenton, on Tuesday, is expected, will complete its business at an early hour. There is little, if any, disposition to continue the session, as the State Convention is a most important nature. The State Convention is expected to be a most important nature. The State Convention is expected to be a most important nature. The State Convention is expected to be a most important nature.

Reumster had received $20 from an outside firm to pay his wife to Massachusetts. The money was to be paid to him in installments. He had been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail. He has been in a state of mental derangement since August 8, when he was taken to jail.

M'PHERSON FOR MCKINLEY.

NEW-JERSEY'S FORMER SENATOR SAYS THAT SOUND MONEY WILL SURELY WIN.

Trenton, Aug. 24 (Special).—It is not true, as recently stated, that ex-Senator John M'Phereson is out West in charge of a physician, and is entirely abandoned any interest in politics. Mr. M'Phereson did go to Colorado several months ago to obtain relief from a chronic bronchial attack. He returned home a few weeks ago much improved in health, and is at his office in New-York nearly every day. He talks on the political situation with much of his old-time vigor.

As a sound-money man of years' standing, Mr. M'Phereson is strongly opposed to Bryan. He does not consider Bryan a Democrat, but a Populist, and he advocates of about everything that is Populist. He believes he will defeat Bryan, but it will require good money. While in Colorado the ex-Senator was enabled to feel the public pulse. He was much disappointed when he first arrived. The silver sentiment seemed to pervade all the Western States. He dined with Senator Teller and others, and naturally heard glowing reports of the headway that repudiation was making.

By the time he left, however, the Senator noticed a change in the tide. It was not perceptible in Colorado and the little States, but it was evident in the States where the people were reading sound-money literature and were being influenced by it. While Mr. M'Phereson will probably vote for McKinley and Hobart, he is greatly interested in the McKinley and Hobart campaign, and will do all in his power to aid it in every way possible. He will be unable, on account of his throat, to take any active part in the campaign, but he will be able to do much for the McKinley and Hobart campaign, and will be able to do much for the McKinley and Hobart campaign.

Mr. M'Phereson is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing. He is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing. He is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing. He is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing. He is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing.

Mr. M'Phereson is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing. He is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing. He is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing. He is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing. He is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing. He is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing.

Mr. M'Phereson is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing. He is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing. He is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing. He is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing. He is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing. He is a man of years' standing, and is a man of years' standing.

"FARMER" MARTINE FOR CONGRESS.

ELIZABETH, AUG. 24 (Special).—James E. Martine, a candidate for Congress on the Democratic side in the Fifth District, Mr. Martine won't take a Senatorial nomination, as he has twice tried for that but failed, yet he is willing to make a martyr of himself for the good of his party and lead the forlorn hope against Congressmen Fowler.

Delegates to Trenton Elected. Rutherford, Aug. 24 (Special).—At the Republican primary here on Saturday night, John M. Bell and E. T. Hallway were elected delegates and Clinton D. Galloway and Peter Dammers alternates to the State Convention at Trenton on Thursday.

TRIED TO BURN HER HOUSE.

A WOMAN CHARGED WITH ARSON—HER HORSE FOUND HARNESSED IN THE BARN READY FOR FLIGHT.

Asbury Park, Aug. 24 (Special).—Mrs. George Aker, of Whitesville, a settlement northwest of this place, was arrested early this morning by Township Officers Bennett and Willis, charged with attempted arson. She was arraigned before Justice Dodd and placed under a heavy bond to appear before the Grand Jury. The police, when they visited the woman's home this morning, found the house filled with balls of paper and rags saturated with kerosene. These were connected by wires to the house, and the house was covered with the fluid. Her husband, learning of the attempt to burn the house, became alarmed and informed the police. The police also found Mrs. Aker's horse in the stable harnessed, and near by was a wagon. The house is insured for $2,000.

The woman denies that she intended to set fire to the building, and asserts that others were in the plot. The oil-soaked papers and rags secured by the police will fill a barrel.

ATTEMPTED ARSON IN A TENEMENT.

MANY LIVES PROBABLY SAVED BY THE TIMELY DISCOVERY OF A POLICEMAN.

The Newark police are investigating a case of attempted arson at No. 100 Morton-st., about midnight Sunday. The house is a three-story frame tenement inhabited by Polish Jews. A fire was started under a stairway on the first floor, and the flame was seen by a policeman, who called another officer to his aid. The two men broke in the door and found a fire soaked with oil and paper burning furiously. Having extinguished the fire the officers made a search for the guilty persons. The sleeping inmates of the tenement were awakened by the commotion and rushed down the stairs in a panic. The house is owned by Charles Richter, of No. 121 Sussex-ave, Newark.

PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION ISSUED.

CHANCELLOR MCGILL RESTRAINS THE SALE OF THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF ASBURY PARK, PENDING A FULL HEARING.

Asbury Park, Aug. 24 (Special).—Chancellor McGill, without assigning reasons for his conclusion, on the application for a temporary injunction restraining the sale of the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park has issued a preliminary injunction restraining the sale of the church. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park. The church is a three-story frame building, and is owned by the First Presbyterian Church of Asbury Park.

BIDS FOR A WATER SUPPLY.

TWO CONCERNS COMPETE FOR JERSEY CITY'S PERMANENT CONTRACT.

TERMS OFFERED BY THE EAST JERSEY AND ROCKAWAY AND HUDSON COMPANIES—A FILTRATION SCHEME PROPOSED ALSO.

The Street and Water Board of Jersey City received bids yesterday for a new and permanent water supply. Two bids were received, one from the East Jersey Water Company, and the other from the Rockaway and Hudson Company. The United States Filtering and Purifying Company also bid under the filtration clause, but the bid was informal.

The East Jersey Water Company offered to supply the first 25,000,000 gallons daily from the Greenwood Lake intake, an elevation of 127 feet, and the other 25,000,000 from the intake at Midvale, an elevation of 210 feet, the reservoir to be constructed on the Wynokick. It agreed to supply 20,000,000 gallons or less a day at $37 per million, from 20,000,